

Halton Electric Has Been Providing Quality Customer Service Since 1975

Halton Electric is a locally owned and operated team of professional electricians with over a century of combined experience. This family operated electric company has been servicing Burlington and the surrounding areas since 1975, and places an emphasis on great customer service and superior workmanship. Halton Electric services residential, business or industrial clients, and offers highly customizable options for a job that is done right and at a reasonable price.

Halton Electric is proud to offer the kind of personalized service that seems to be lacking in business these days. Whatever the job, from hot tub and pool wiring or landscape lighting, to new construction, data cabling and home renovations, the reliable team member at Halton Electric will ensure customers are given the correct information, pricing and service the first time. These professional electricians take pride in their work, which is evident in the one year warranty offered on any job.

As various testimonials and the one year warranty attest to, Halton Electric is committed to a job well done. "Their staff exemplifies a level of workmanship and related knowledge second to none," said Dave in Burlington. "Professional care and timely work on our light fixtures and switch installation," agrees Adam from Mississauga, adding, "Cleanup and disposal done as a bonus. I highly recommend them for projects big or small."

Halton Electric is Burlington's local solution for quality electrician services. For more information on services or for an in home consultation, visit their website www.haltonelectric.com or call 905-335-2104.
